DEATH TOLL IS HIGH IN COUNTY OVER WEEK-END

Two Commit Suicide; Nine
Are Killed in Auto
Crashes

Two suicides were committed in the county during the past few days, due to a thwarted love affair in one case, and unemployment and family troubles in the other.

Richard Heubelcamp, 40, Libertyville chauffeur, shot himself with a revolver Sunday morning when he returned his 19-year-old sweetheart, Amy Allison, to the Oakwood estate where her father is employed as caretaker, after an elopement to El Paso, Tex., July 16. Heubelcamp had deserted his wife and children.

Failure of the man to obtain a divorce, coupled with the fact that neither were able to find employment, caused the girl to demand to be brought home.

Fear of facing the charges in war-rails issued for his arrest after Mrs. Heubelcamp had notified the police of his desertion, is believed to be one of the chief motives for the suicide.

Was Unemployed.

Anton A. Hanson, 50, of Vanocanda, dependent because of his failure to find employment and because of family troubles, Monday night turned on the gas and ended his life. His body was discovered by a neighbor the following morning. His wife was in Chicago at the time.

Seven Killed in Crash.

Seven persons from Chicago and Milwaukee were killed instantly when their car stalled on the Glenview railroad and was struck by a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific train. The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Woods and baby son of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rutkowski and two children of Milwaukee.

Train engineers told officials that they did not see the car until too late to apply the brakes. Eight persons lost their lives at this crossing last year, and it is believed that more adequate protection will be asked of railroad officials.

North Chicago Man Killed.

Joe Vajdakunas, 70, North Chicago wire mill employee, died as he was being taken to the hospital after being struck by the car of Harry Nichols, Great Lakes, as he attempted to cross the busy street at Sheridan road and Fifteenth street while carrying a sack of potatoes, Sunday night. Nichols, who had been traveling at a moderate rate of speed, according to witnesses, was exonerated.

Accidents Numerous.

Scores of others were injured in week-end mishaps. The recovery of Miss Arella Hoffman, Chicago, who was injured Saturday night in an automobile accident on the Waukegan road, Lake Forest, is held doubtful.

One died of injuries received, and eight others were hurt in an auto accident at an intersection near Wadsworth, when the car driven by Thomas Lyons of Graylake, in which his wife and children were passengers, crashed with a machine in which five women, Mrs. Lathan, Waukegan, Mrs. Jennie Mendel, Mrs. Laura Hepperle, Mrs. Grace Millin and Mrs. Ella Birmingham, were riding. The five women were taken to the Victory Memorial hospital, and the Lyons to St. Theresa hospital. Mrs. Lathan passed away late Tuesday afternoon.

Loon Lake Lot Owners Organize To Improve Colony

Summer cottage and lot owners of the Lambert subdivision on the west shore of Loon lake have formed an organization known as the Del Monte Gardens association.

The directors elected for this year are Wm. L. Bruning, J. F. Rampe and Rudolph Leptine. Mr. Bruning is chairman, and Mr. Rampe is secretary and treasurer. A committee, composed of William Motewinter, R. Leptine, Matt Hoff and H. Schmidt, has full charge of all road improvements.

The organization is chartered under the laws of the state of Illinois, as a non-profit organization and has been doing some wonderful work in improving this popular summer colony. There are now thirty members and a nominal fee is charged each member per year. The organization owns the water system which supplies each cottage with clear sparkling water drawn from a well 125 feet deep and supplied under pressure throughout the entire subdivision.

The fees collected pay for the upkeep of the water supply system, as well as road improvements, cutting grass and weeds, etc. Each cottage owner is taking a personal pride in the appearance of his property and grounds, and the general appearance of the subdivision has improved 100 per cent since the organization was formed.

"Henry's Wedding" To Be Staged By 125 Local People

"The Beaus and Belles of Grandma's Time" To Be a Big Feature

Next Thursday and Friday nights, the big social, political and entertainment event, "Henry's Wedding," will be staged at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the St. Ignace church. This promises to be the biggest event of the season in this community and has the distinction of being the only public wedding of the year. At that time three couples will take the big step into matrimony. They are S. Boyer Nelson playing the part of Uncle Henry and Mrs. George Garland taking the part of Samantha Green; also Morley Webb as Jack and Mrs. Carroll Johnson as Mary, and Mrs. Charles Lux as Susan Christopher and W. C. Petty as Lawyer Brown.

"Henry's Wedding" is a story of a bachelor bridegroom of 55 getting married for the first time to a widow of 49 who has twice been married. This in itself brings enough comical situations to keep the crowd in an uproar from start to finish. But what makes the situation even more hilarious is the fact that Jack, Uncle Henry's nephew, planned to get married on the day of the show, and collect on the next day, his twenty-fifth birthday, $100,000 from his grandfather's will.

However, the sudden announcement on the part of Uncle Henry of his marriage on the same day will out Jack out of the $100,000, and give it to Uncle Henry, and Jack immediately with his boy friends, Ted and Harris, played by Richard Folbrich and Homer Timmons, attempt to stop the wedding of Uncle Henry. Persuasion fails and they turn to the attempt of kidnapping, and from here the comical situations begin. O'Flarty, the hard-boiled detective, played by John Horan, and Mugs, his assistant, played by Russell Mead, are called into help solve the mystery, and they give a lot of amusement and comedy to the show.

Eliza, the Negro cook, played by Miss Cornelia Roberts, and her lazy husband, Hastings, played by Otto Klase, afford a lot of the comedy of the production.

"Grandma's Time" Feature of Show.

An outstanding feature is the 1890 guests at this modern 1940 wedding. This group, called "The Beaus and Belles of Grandma's Time" are the laugh hit of the show. Thirty-three of the prominent men and women of the community will take the characters of the olden times and represent such people as the Bicycle Girl, the Florida Man, Driver of the Horseless Carriage, Dean Brummell of 1860, the Flashing Swain of 1870, Celluloid Collar Benne, and many other amusing characters.

Another feature of the show is the meeting of the colored brethren and sisters of the Mystic Shrine. This famous lodge is called in to solve the mysteries of the disappearance of the bridegroom, and hold a séance with the spirits in an attempt to find out where Uncle Henry has gone. Twenty-five prominent men and women of the community take part in this spiritualist meeting and sing the old spiritual songs of the southern Negroes. S. E. Pollock, taking the part of Brother Jones, president of the Mystic Shrine, calls the meeting to order and conducts the business and immediately calls on Sister Eliza and Sister Sadie, played by Miss Cornelia Roberts and Mrs. Lee Gullette, to talk to the spirits. Each of these sisters has a vision and testifies in the meeting. And then the songs such as "Lonesome Road," "Sing, You Sinners," "Hallelujah," and "Hear Dem Belles," are given by the entire group. In addition, the girls' choruses are also high spots of the show. Twenty-five of the local high school girls are dressed in brilliant and beautiful costumes and give snappy choruses and beautiful singing in such songs as "The King's Horse," "Smile, Darn Ya, Smile," "Walking My Baby Back Home," "Yours and Mine," and "Down the River of Golden Dreams."

All in all, "Henry's Wedding" is the outstanding event of the season. A full list of the characters will be found in an advertisement elsewhere in this paper. Seats go on sale at King's Drug store at 9 a. m., August 19.

The committees which are pushing "Henry's Wedding" are: General chairman, Mrs. Wm. H. Osmund; cast committee, Mrs. Chase Webb, Mrs. R. Simms, Mrs. J. E. Brook; ticket committee, Mrs. John Horan, Mrs. Lou Van Patten; publicity committee, Mrs. William Anderson; property and costume committee, Mrs. James Stearns, Mrs. William Gray.

A 10-cent children's performance will be presented at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Hatch Is Called One of County's Interesting Men

Life History Reveals Him
as Brilliant Civic Farmer

Frank Walt Hatch was born in Burton Township, McHenry county, Illinois, January 1, 1857. After attending the district school he graduated from the Elgin Academy, in 1875; graduated from the University of Illinois with the class of 1880 with the degree of A. B. He attended the Yale Law School the school year of 1880-81 and the Union College of Law in Chicago in 1881-82 and graduated with the degree of L. L. B. in 1882. Later in 1882 he took the bar examination and was admitted by the court to the bar of the State of Illinois.

He farmed until 1887 and on April 18, 1887 he married Agnes M. Kimball and went to Texas to live and practice law. After a few months' trial the young couple found the southern climate did not agree with either of them. His father implored him to come home and carry on the farm and business, which he did. In the fall of 1887 he returned to the farm and remained a farmer to the end.

In 1893 he moved into the large house on Hatch's Corner, built by his father. In 1915, having sold his farm on English Prairie, he moved to Antioch township, Lake county, Illinois and there built the home he occupied until his death.

He was always interested in farmer cooperative enterprises. He helped organize the English Prairie Creamery, was a member of the Farm Bureau, the Agricultural Investment Company. In his late years his interest in business enterprises increased and his farming operations became less but he never gave them up entirely.

He was a member of the McHenry County Board and of Antioch Township High School Board for years. He was president of the Antioch Laundry and one of its most ardent promoters.

He was always interested in all community activities. He was a wide reader, and was well-informed on most topics of the day. He attended the fiftieth anniversary of his graduation from the University of Illinois last year.

His wife was killed in an automobile accident near Normal September 16, 1924.

Three daughters survive their father—Mrs. Paschal Allen, of Green Valley, Ill.; Mrs. Eugene McDougall, of Wilmet, Wis.; and Miss Laura Hatch, at home. Six grandchildren also survive, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Paschal Allen.

Fire Totally Destroys Stand at Channel Lake

The lunchroom and stand owned by Harry Smith of Channel lake was totally destroyed by fire Sunday evening. Due to a faulty gasoline stove, the Antioch fire department was called, but were unable to obtain water to extinguish the flames.

It is believed that the fire started when Mr. Mather, who was operating the stand, started to fill the gasoline container to heat some coffee, but the first indication of a fire came from the ceiling. The damage was estimated at about $2,000, including equipment.

A telephone service cable of thirty-two wires, carrying 175 phones west of Lake Marie and Channel lake was destroyed in the heat of the flames. Jim Brown, of Libertyville, plant superintendent of the cable crew, has repaired the lines.

Use Indian Secret To Locate Body of Drowning Victim

Youth Raises Body in Lake
Marie; Child Drowns in Lake Michigan

Indian lore proved effective Tuesday in recovering the body of Fred Melerhafer, 24, of 8255 Lincoln avenue, Niles Center, who drowned in Lake Marie Sunday.

After searching for nearly two days, Chief of Police Holmes of Niles Center, upon the request of the boy's parents, summoned a young college youth, George Thompson, from Stillwater, Minn., who possesses a secret for bringing bodies to the surface. Thompson, after ordering the lake cleared of boats and bathers, rowed about for awhile with his assistant, Emmett McLeer, and presently returned to shore to await results. Within an hour the body rose to the surface.

Employe Indian Secret. The young French-Canadian is a protégé of John Jarrimy, famed Indian called "Father of the Waters" because of his extraordinary success in locating bodies. This secret was handed down to the youth from three generations. He has never failed to bring a body to the surface. It is said, and on the several occasions when he has been requested to locate bodies in the Illinois lake regions, he has always been successful.

Falls from Raft. Young Melerhafer sank to his death about 6 o'clock Sunday evening, when he fell from a raft, uttering no cry. His friends immediately procured grappling hooks, but were unable to locate the body.

Child Drowns. Ten-year-old Ernest Zvala, of Chicago, was drowned in Lake Michigan Saturday night, when he ran away from the Arden shore opportunity camp and decided to enjoy one more swim before returning to his home.

His body was washed up by the waves, to be discovered the next morning. In the bushes close by, were found his suitcase and clothing, which bore mute testimony to the homesickness which prompted the little boy to endeavor to return to his home. It is believed that he went bathing in the lake for one last swim, while the guards were busy with the evening meal. The boy's brother said that Ernest had expressed his desire to return home, and that he had run away from a similar camp last summer.

Mrs. E. Groebli and Lorens spent several days with her mother in Michigan. Harold and Marvin Groebli are visiting their grandmother at present. Laura Deenan spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Gould, at Libertyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tiffany and family, from Chetek, Wis., arrived today for a visit at the A. N. Tiffany home.

ATTORNEYS PREPARE DEFENSE FOR UDELL PUBLISHING CO.

COURT DECISION IN CASE REGARDED SIGNIFICANT

CAN ATTORNEYS RECONCILE FACTS IN CASE WITH LAW?

Ten days in which to file an answer to Attorney Mortimer Singer's bill for an injunction, restraining Lake county from paying printing bills owing to the Udell Publishing Company of Highland Park, has been granted for the defendants by Circuit Judge Ralph Dady.

The injunction bill brought by Attorney Singer, in behalf of the Singer Publishing Company, alleges that the Udell company cannot properly accept contracts for county printing because Paul Udell, an official of the firm, is a Lake county supervisor and member of the county printing committee. The Singer company, in the present proceedings, seeks to prevent the county from paying the Udell company for publication of assessment lists in the Highland Park Press, and for other county printing done recently. Requisitions signed by the county printing committee authorizing the publication of the assessment lists were issued unlawfully, it is alleged, as such requisitions are not required, it being solely the duty of the supervisors or of assessments (county treasurer) to place the assessment rolls for publication in the proper mediums according to law. Through the unnecessary requisitions it is claimed, the printing committee has designated the mediums.

Attorneys Clair C. Edwards and Sidney Block are representing the Udell company. The continuance was granted after it was agreed that payment of the bills by Lake county should be delayed until the injunction hearing is held.

It is understood, according to the Chicago Herald and Examiner, that defense attorneys will contend that the Udell company is a corporation, and has a legal right to accept printing. Supervisor Udell points out that his company has accepted jobs at times only to speed up the work.

Just how the defense hopes to reconcile the facts in the case with the law, in their defense plea remains to be seen, particularly that part of Chapter 102, article 3, which states that it is unlawful for any person holding office either by election or appointment to become interested, either directly or indirectly, in his own name or in the name of ANY OTHER PERSON OR CORPORATION, in any contract or in the performance of any work in the making or letting of which such officer may be called upon to act or vote. Contracts made and procured in violation hereof shall be null and void.

"Notwithstanding the many claims made, there are absolutely no extenuating circumstances that I know of that are connected with the alleged violation of this statute," a leading Lake county lawyer declared today.

The court decision in this case is regarded as being of the utmost significance and the outcome is being watched with intense interest throughout Lake county and all northern Illinois.

RAID BREWERY IN GRANT TOWNSHIP

A large brewery, believed to have been the source of supply for road houses and saloons in McHenry county and along the Lake county line, was raided Tuesday morning by Lester Tiffany and his deputies. The brewery, capable of manufacturing 120 barrels of beer weekly, was located in Grant township, between Volo and Fox Lake, near the McHenry line.

An arrest of William Haurahan and James Harris, of Chicago, employees at the plant, was made. Search is being continued for men believed to have been operating the plant, and the brewery guard.

Haurahan and Harris yesterday were held on $2,000 bond each for a hearing Tuesday before Justice Henry Wallenwein.

Mrs. George Beaumont, Mrs. Floyd Beaumont, of Kansasville, Wis.; Mrs. James Rountree, of Rochester, Wis.; and Miss Clara Moyle, of Garden City, Wis., spent Thursday with Mrs. Robert Bonner.

GASOLINE PRICES AND THE GAS TAX

Gasoline prices have fallen to the lowest level in years, when allowance is made for the state tax. On June 1, the average price in fifty representative American cities was 12.51 cents a gallon—not counting tax—as compared with 16.78 cents on the same day last year, and 20.70 cents in 1921.

On June 1, the average tax rate was in excess of 4 cents a gallon for the first time in history. In ten years the tax has increased 3.85 cents a gallon, while the average price of gas has declined 13.19 cents.

It is believed that the trend toward higher taxes may be coming to an end. One reason for this is resentment on the part of motorists—and another reason is the prevalence of gas bootlegging and tax evasion. A tax rate of 25 or more per cent on a necessary commodity cannot be justified.

THE GOVERNMENT AS DICTATOR

"The growing contempt for law is attributable in large measure to a mistaken zeal for more and ever more law," said Governor Ritchie of Maryland, a short time ago. "The government is no longer the creature and protector of our individual rights, but is rapidly becoming the dictator of them."

Few who are familiar with the course of legislation of the last quarter of a century, will deny this. Governments, both state and federal, have shown a steadily increasing disposition to regulate by law the acts of their citizens. Reform movements, based on misunderstanding of human problems, have swept all before them, and the principal result is that the United States is now the most lawless of the great nations.

One wonders when we will again realize that progress comes from the individual, not from the state; that regulation of human conduct can only be successful when it is voluntary, rather than statutory.

IT CAN'T BE DONE

There is one born every minute!

This time a young man in New Jersey decided to try out the old theory that a lighted match would be extinguished if quickly plunged into gasoline. Result—he is now in the hospital in a critical condition; his body badly burned.

Theoretically a lighted match could be extinguished by gasoline if it could be quickly plunged through pure air into the liquid. Unfortunately, it is impossible to fulfill these requirements, as wherever there is gasoline there is also gasoline vapor immediately above it. This vapor mixed with air forms a powerful explosive, the same as that which propels motor cars. In the foregoing experiment the lighted match had to pass through a layer of vapor mixed with air which immediately exploded and covered the victim with flaming gasoline.

As an interesting sidelight of this experiment, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported a 1929 fire loss of $15,000,000 caused by petroleum and its products and listed under the heading, "Strictly Preventable." It also points out that people who attempt to do dry cleaning in their homes with gasoline are courting disaster.

Whenever anyone feels inclined to take liberties with gasoline he should remember that potentially it is nothing less than a death-dealing explosive. The vapor, from one gallon of gasoline mixed in proper proportions with air, has explosive possibilities equal to eighty-three pounds of dynamite.

Getting Even
Life is far too short to waste its precious hours on revenge. Better is it to devote the fleeting minutes to deeds of love rather than to thoughts of hate. Any man can "get even," but the price will be his self respect.—Grit.

WHEN you buy a Ford car today, you buy what is unquestionably the greatest value in the history of the Ford Motor Company. Never before has so much beauty, comfort, safety and performance been offered at such a low price.

The low price of the Ford is something to think about because it means an immediate saving of many dollars — always an important consideration. But far more significant than price alone is what you get for that price. When high quality is combined with low price, you may justly take pride in having found a most satisfactory purchase.

See the Ford — ride in it — learn something about the value that is built into every part. The more you know about it, the more certain you will be that it is the car for you. It is literally true that when you "get the facts you will get a Ford."

Think It Over

Taxpayers' Questions

Under the "bonehead" legislation transferring the care of the paupers from the county to the townships, the local taxpayers faced big increases in taxes eventually, but now the attorney-general in effect has amended the "bonehead" act with his belief that the county can take care of the townships' overflow by paying the bills for the care of the poor in their own homes. What next?

How many taxpayers have noted that the attorney general ruled that the county can run a hospital provided the townships pay for their patients? After leading the township taxpayers to water, will they be made to drink, in the form of paying for running the county hospital, if such townships have hospitals within their own districts?

How many heads of factories live and pay taxes in the communities where the industries are located?

With wage cuts and shorter hours, just what can a chamber of commerce do to induce merchants to reduce prices so wage-earning taxpayers can exist?

When taxpaying farmers are getting 24 cents for sixty pounds of wheat, why does the taxpayer in the city have to pay 6 cents for a 1-pound loaf of bread?

When a taxpaying farmer is getting 3 and 4 cents per quart for milk, and good butter is retailing for 23 cents per pound, why should the city taxpayers pay 13 cents per quart for milk for the kiddies?

With a real estate tax of $2 per acre on farm land, with tractors selling at $800 to $1,000 each, grain binders at $225, and plows, drills and harrows just as high in proportion, how can a taxpaying farmer make both ends meet with 15-cent oats, 30-cent wheat, and 60-cent corn?

What taxpaying farmer can tell what has happened to Hoover's idea that the farmer should receive a fair return for his work and tools just the same as good that he hoped to abolish poverty which has increased many fold under "The Belgian Relief" expert of the old war days?

How many taxpayers with the coldest tied in closed banks recall the quaint Chinese custom of chopping off the heads of all bank officials when a bank closes?

How many Waukegan taxpayers are hunting up their receipts for money paid the city to be sure that they are not paying twice on some of the "extra" special assessments?

What taxpayer does not rejoice that the militant organized taxpayers are gaining their points of economy in the real cutting of municipal salaries and jobs in Waukegan which is just started?

When a taxpayer notices a coke works yard heaped high with coke, is it a wonder that he wonders how the price goes up 25 cents per ton each month and the gas rate does not go down, as advertised by politicians?

With all the uproar about out-of-pocket expenses of municipalities and counties, why do taxpayers have to pay the enormous printing bills they have wished upon them? Will the court proceedings against a supervisor reveal the answer? When? How?

What city politician will answer the question: Why not condemn a dry land highway at $1,000 per acre to the filtration plant at Waukegan for a real highway instead of trying to purchase a strip in and along Lake Michigan at $3,500 an acre which must be filled up at great cost?

Will the lake front land owners at Waukegan sell land for a highway to the filtration plant at the same rate the land is assessed or do they demand several times the assessed valuation?

What taxpayer desires to take a high dive off of the bulkhead along the proposed Lake Shore Drive at Waukegan and then swim about in tannery, asbestos and human sewage?

Why does the Waukegan council entertain the idea of extending the option to buy the lake shore lands which the city already paid for in part and which will never be useful until filled in at a great expense north of the coke plant? Must the taxpayers defeat the bond issue a third time?

Why are the Lake Shore Drive protagonists in Waukegan trying to conceal from the taxpayers that the railroad in its deeds provided that it will provide a private highway to the coke, Johnson, and water plants until the city builds the Lake Shore Drive? Who is putting words of concealment and deceit into his Honor's broadcasting station for the Lake Shore Drive racket on taxpayers?

LAKE COUNTY TAXPAYERS' NEWS

"And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free"

ONE DOLLAR IN 7 GOES FOR TAXES, FARMER DECLARES

One Person in Eleven Supported from Public Purse

Tax moneys are collected for paying the expense of national, state, county, town and city government. This includes the salaries and wages of everyone from the President down to the dog catcher and wheel tax grabber.

This collection of public servants must have comfortable quarters to work in so public buildings are purchased or erected, by bond issues. These bonds bear interest and taxes must pay this as well as pay off the bonds.

In order that these offices be kept comfortable more tax money is spent for fuel, light, water and soap. The clerks must have books, pencils and stationery, so that they can earn their wages.

The poor must be fed and clothed, the needy sick given medical and hospital aid, and little old taxpayer pays his direct tax for this.

Recent estimates are to the effect that $1 in every $7 of income gets into a public bill. Moreover, approximately one earner in every eleven, makes their living from national, state or local governmental bodies.

Lately it has become impossible for people to walk; a trip of two blocks to the delicatessen means the car must be used. In another generation people will have no feet or legs, and wouldn't use them if they had them.

Many a public servant is riding in a Packard while the citizens whose tax money bought and maintains it, fluster about in a sputtering Ford.

The sidewalks are empty and the pavements crowded. Brigham Young originated mass production; auto makers developed it, and public servants help to keep it up.

The wages paid public servants are as a rule a little higher than the average wage in that community. The service rendered for this wage is as a rule less than that required by a company in the same community. Yet a majority of the public payrollers will tell you that they are underpaid and overworked; but you don't find any in the poorhouses, even though they may be living on the town.

In many public offices one or more employees could be discharged with no injury to the service rendered. Who over hears of drastic cuts in wages or employees during periods of depression, outside of concerns run privately?

Even though the taxpaying public get wage cuts and short hours, the public servants still struggle on in the same number at the same old pay check.

A little more business in the conduct of public affairs could bring about a less expense and with it a reduction in taxes.

DO POLICE AND TEACHERS FACE PAYLESS DAYS?

Waukegan appears as shy in tax funds that the police and school teachers may have to endure payless days. Many are not able to pay taxes. The city has not yet taken up its last year's participation warrants and so it will be hard to sell more, and where is the question.

The politicians who would not listen to the organized taxpayers are gone and fine men have taken their places; but what a mess and mass of debts they inherited from the commission. It is doubtful if the aldermen can find much over $100,000 to run the city on for the current year.

His Smart
A fur expert can look at an otter skin and tell what kind of a cat used to wear it.—Florida Times-Union.

Outside of yesterday's newspaper, can any taxpayer think of anything that is more useless than a discarded politician?

How many small home owning taxpayers are shedding tears over the fact that the Waukegan assessor, Russ Alford, has raised the Johns Manville plant from $372,220 to $885,070? Is it not a relief to have an assessor who does not sell coal to industries as a side line and securities to the other big property holders?

When will the Waukegan township board start a suit for an accounting for the $7,000 advanced to the late assessor, who is reported to have placed the fund in his private bank account?

When will the good work start in the court house?

Scores Tax Waste

William H. Malone.

Former Chairman of the Illinois Tax Commission, of Park Ridge, who in a recent address announcing his candidacy for governor, accused the present system of taxation and reckless tax spending in this state.

"Our people," Malone said, "are no longer going to follow blindly the selfish type of leaders who in the past have been actuated by a sole desire to win political position for the purpose of handing out patronage without building up organizations without standard or ideals. Our people are victims of an intolerable and corrupt tax system administered by incompetent and irresponsible officials."

It is a significant fact that every tax relief plan proposed to date by the tax-spenders has been a tax-relief plan, designed to refill the taxpayer's empty till, and not to protect the taxpayers' lean pocketbooks. Their plans are to raise more money, not to save money.

"The condition of the state of Illinois demands a major operation. . . . The people of Illinois are going to have a taxpayers' governor with a taxpayers' program, instead of a tax-spenders' governor with a tax-spenders' scheme."

Malone resigned as chairman of the state tax commission when Governor Louis L. Emmerson ignored recommendations made by Malone.

Promises vs. Performance

Of what value is a promise? Are promises today worth the breath used in making them?

How many politicians ever even remembered, after election, of even making a promise or a pledge?

Many a candidate for public office will promise to do certain things, but after election his memory fails.

Manufacturers will promise loyal workers anything during labor troubles, but their memories are short.

Big Business promises that there would be no cuts in wages, but how about it?

Hoover talked farm relief and a square deal for farmer but have they had it?

Prosperity was promised in 60 days over a year ago, but where is it?

The only two promises the property owner can depend upon are death and taxes. Both are certain and unavoidable but the politician squeals the loudest when either approach him.

General Conditions Better in Europe Than in Lake Co.

Attorney Joe Miller, of Waukegan, has just returned from an extended European trip and reports general conditions in European countries appeared much better than in Waukegan, yet President Hoover declared a moratorium on the war loans payments which the Liberty bond holders, who are American income tax payers, must make good during the moratorium.

TAX VALUATIONS ARE INCREASED

In the Waukegan Township, Russ Alford, the assessor, has increased the tax valuations of certain industries, as follows: Wire mill, $89,610; Abbott Laboratories, $50,700. In the city is reported that the Public Service will get an increase.

It is said the asbestos plant will protest to the board of review on the increase made by Alford; however, the talk is that the home owners, whose valuations have been decreased, are planning to make Alford's industrial valuations stand.

SOUND BUSINESS IN PUBLIC OFFICE WILL RESTORE CONFIDENCE

Spectacle of Waste and Growing Tax Burden Is Viewed with Alarm

TOO MANY WATER BOYS ON PAYROLL, FARMER DECLARES

Estimates are that one earner in every eleven gets his living from national state or local government. All so that one dollar in every seven gets into a public tax bill. All persons getting their living from public funds are tax spenders. Are these tax spenders devoting their time during office hours in an honest endeavor to give the service for which they are paid?

Employees of a corporation have a set time to begin work, a definite quitting time and a certain time for lunch. During working hours they are supposed to deliver the work for which they are hired. Strolling in or out at any time, visiting, discussing ball games, dates or sweeties, telephone chats, absence on private business except sickness, is not tolerated. A foreman or department head allowing such things is soon separated from the payroll.

In an organized business there are no employees whose services are not required and whose time is not fully occupied.

One foreman had at one time a water boy, an assistant water boy, and an assistant to the assistant water boy. The water boy carried the pail, the assistant water boy the dipper, and the assistant to the assistant carried the bucket. But it didn't last—the assistant to the assistant got the job and the other two and the foreman, their time.

No concern, whether public or private, can operate under such conditions.

Are the public offices today, supported by the one dollar in each seven of income and using one in each eleven of income earners, loaded up with water boys, assistant water boys and assistants to assistant water boys?

Why has the amount of tax money required risen so rapidly the past few years?

Are department heads in public offices requiring employees to obey rules as to time put in, the same as required in business houses? Are the employees capable and conscientious? Could they hold a job with a private concern, or are they relatives or friends of some ward beeler or politician? Do they hold their jobs by their ability or by the ability of someone to control votes?

Do department heads insist that there be a minimum of waste in time and material in their departments?

Are automobiles, purchased by tax money for public use, maintained, oiled and fueled at public expense, used strictly for public use? Is it not a fact that public vehicles are often taken for private trips when the hard-working underpaid public official takes a vacation?

Isn't it odd how many associations, leagues and conventions there are requiring the attendance of public officials—at the expense of the tax payers? How many private concerns would allow their employees to spend company time and money as is spent by public officials?

The tax burden today is so great that sound business heads are worried, home owners face confiscation of property, and small business, bankruptcy.

More sound business in public office would help to restore confidence in the country.

Dallas Applies the Brakes on Waste

(The Times Herald, Dallas, Texas.)

One of the most constructive of the new provisions to the city charter was that which called for an outside audit. The city council lost no time in complying with this provision.

The task confronted by Arthur Young & Co., the firm employed, was a difficult one, because no previous independent audits of the city departments had been made. The next audit will be much easier.

This check of city affairs now nearing completion, will cost the taxpayers about $26,000, but in the water department alone more than this amount will be saved as the result of the auditors' findings. The public has long been convinced that tax money was being wasted at the city hall through antiquated business methods, slipshod buying, padded payrolls, and other ways. The audit has confirmed this opinion.

The auditors have not only revealed the places where money was being wasted, but they have suggested means of stopping the leaks. Their report will be just such a guide as the council needs in reorganizing the city government.

Besides the economies recommended in the water department, the audit has revealed the slipshod manner in which delinquent taxes have been collected, the lack of system in collecting fines in the city court, the absence of proper check on prisoners at the municipal farm, the lack of an official to investigate pay cases at the Packard hospital, unsystematic purchasing of supplies, and many other defects in administration.

One of the most encouraging signs of the times is the growing sentiment in favor of independent audits of governmental agencies. It is gratifying that this sentiment is strong in Texas. Apparently the public has determined that the prevailing wastage of tax money must be stopped. The only remedy is frequent and thorough non-political audits.

The Dallas population is 275,000.

CHINESE TORTURE EXHIBIT BOOKED FOR AURORA FAIR

The famous International Chinese Exposition, now on a tour of the world, has been booked for the Central States Fair at Aurora August 10 to 22. This is said to be one of the most remarkable exhibits ever brought out of the Orient. Its stop at the Aurora Fair will be one of the few to be made in the United States, and fair officials are to be congratulated on obtaining it.

Among its features, the exhibition embraces an exhibit of the ancient methods of torture employed by the old Chinese imperial regime, including actual torture machines of all kinds and models showing some of the horrible methods of punishment employed. It also comprises some of the most gorgeous wedding gowns and garments of state lavishly embroidered and jeweled, including the robes of emperors and princesses.

Another feature of the exposition is a collection of famous Chinese festival lanterns of all sizes, shapes and colors, together with replicas of Imperial house boats, wedding chairs and furniture of various kinds. Needless to say, this exhibit from far off China will be one of the most unusual and interesting exhibitions of its kind ever brought to the Midwest, and provides, in itself, a splendid reason why you should not miss the coming Central States Fair at Aurora.

SUPERVISOR SEES SUCCESS FOR THIRD PARTY NEXT YEAR

Jones Says Tax Revision Will Cure the Nation's Depression Ills

Declaring that the present system of taxation is largely responsible for the depression because the masses hit hardest by unjust property taxes have been shorn of buying power, Assistant Supervisor Chas. O. Jones, of Waukegan, in a letter to the News today suggests a platform which he believes would bring success to a third political party next year, at least in this district.

Jones points to high taxes on small properties, and the "frozen assets" of the mortgage racket which caused the closing of thousands of banks, as being the underlying causes of the depression. The hidden wealth of intangibles should be brought to light, according to Jones, who advocates somewhat radical departures from the present system of taxation, and new ideas regarding property exemptions and the limiting of incomes. Nevertheless, much sound logic is set forth in his letter.

Antioch News, Gentlemen:

Let us make some suggestions to our congressmen and others that we sent to Washington:

I suggest we tell that in our opinion the United States government should permit the sale of good wine and beer, any place and at any time, and that the government should collect a revenue therefrom.

That each taxpayer should have an exemption of $5,000. This would encourage home ownership and would be fair to the home owner, the farmer, and small business. The above does not mean exemption from that form of tax known as special assessments.

That the only exemption from taxation be those who own less than $5,000 worth of property and do not earn enough to pay a federal income tax.

That no others than taxpayers be permitted to vote on bond issues or on any other proposal to increase taxes.

That an inheritance be considered the same as any other income in computing federal income tax.

That the latests from government bonds and income from government jobs be considered the same as any other income in figuring federal income tax.

That the federal income tax be small on small incomes and large on large incomes, so that no one person can profit more than $100,000 in one year after paying the federal income tax.

That the government prorate this money back to the states in proportion to population, and each state prorate the funds among the counties in proportion to population, thus reducing all property taxes without giving any state an advantage over any other state.

The trouble now is that some have too much and others not enough. Taxation can be arranged so that wealth will be equalized and kept among the people, giving each generation a chance to earn as well as spend. Overproduction would be unknown if people had the money to buy with.

If nothing is done to reduce property taxes, then the mortgage holders eventually will possess most of the property. Because of unreasonably high property taxes most mortgagees are "frozen assets," one of the chief causes of the closing of thousands of banks in the United States during the last few years and responsible in a large measure for the depression.

Viewed in the light of past and present conditions, it would seem that the only method of remedying the present ills of the nation is to adopt a more practical taxing system.

Using the above suggestions as a platform, a third political party, known as the Taxpayers' Party, would be almost certain of success in this district next year.

Railroads, factories, farmers, home owners, merchants, and many others are paying altogether too much property tax. A practical federal income tax system, together with revenue from the sale of beer and wine, would very materially reduce property taxes. Equitable taxation will place the wealth among the people, increasing the buying power of all, which is the one sure way of ending depression.

We are a nation of property tax slaves. Lower property tax will give property more value; it will reduce the cost of living because it will reduce rents, factory overhead, railway freight rates, in fact it will reduce the cost of almost everything, thus making it possible for the United States to compete for world trade without lowering the American standard of living.

Yours very truly,
CHARLES O. JONES,
Assistant Supervisor,
Waukegan, Ill.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit" (1 Cor. 2:9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When we wait patiently on God and seek Truth righteously, He directs our path" (p. 254).

Look over the popular Chevrolet models illustrated here before you make a motor car investment. Study them from every viewpoint—style, performance, dependability and economy. You'll be convinced that your money buys more in a Chevrolet. You'll understand why, month after month, Chevrolet has been leading in sales.

Like all Chevrolet models, these cars are sixes. And you know, as well as engineers do, that multi-cylinder design is standard practice among practically all cars today.

Nothing less than six cylinders gives the fine engine-balance that produces a really smooth flow of power and completely eliminates objectionable vibration at its source. Six-cylinder smoothness is built-in, quiet, economical smoothness. Drivers of sixes never want less!

In addition, these six-cylinder Chevrolets provide a long wheel-base, parallel-mounted springs, smart bodies and unexcelled economy. Owners write that Chevrolets definitely cost less to operate and maintain!

Yet with all these quality features, Chevrolets are offered at prices among the very lowest for which motor cars are sold. No wonder that the Chevrolet Six is called the Great American Value.

Twenty beautiful models, at prices ranging from... $475 to $675

MOOSE DEFEAT LAKE VILLA; NOW LEAD THE LEAGUE

Defeat Firemen, and Take a Practice Game from Gurnee

The Antioch Moose team now leads the league by half a game, as the result of defeating Lake Villa Thursday, 10-4. With Waldweller pitching and the fielders standing pat for every play, and the batters ready with wicked swings, the Moose were never in serious danger. Fuchs was the only Lake Villa batter who took more than one hit off of Waldweller's hurling, while the star hitters for the Moose, Lasco, Sorenson, Morley and E. Hall, each made more than two hits.

The Moose led by one run in the seventh inning, after Lake Villa had scored three in the sixth, but they clinched the game by scoring two in the eighth and three in the ninth.

The outstanding pitching of Runyard, Moose hurler, was responsible for an easy 9-2 victory over the Firemen Monday evening. During the entire game he allowed only two hits. Keulman held up his end as Firemen pitcher, allowing only six hits, but the Moose scored, regardless. Bill Morley scored four runs to send his team further in the lead.

Town Team Wilts Before Practiced Wadsworth Pitcher

The Antioch Town team was defeated Sunday when the strong Wadsworth team cornered them for a 10-6 win. At times the local defense functioned perfectly, but several unnecessary errors in the last few innings gave Wadsworth the game.

Koufman made a spectacular double play unassisted. Willett socked out a beautiful 3-bagger that should have been a home run, fans claim. The Wadsworth pitcher had previously made three consecutive shut-outs, and was seeking his fourth, but Antioch jumped on him for two runs in the first inning. However, he had fifteen strike-outs to his credit, and Antioch's heavy artillery could do nothing, and were held practically hitless.

The Antioch boys play Round Lake here next Sunday, and are determined to repeat a previous victory made on their opponent's diamond.

ONE RUN GIVES MERCHANTS WIN FROM FIREMEN

The Antioch Merchants, in two hotly contested games during the past week, broke even, with one win and a loss. After a 10-inning game with the Firemen Thursday, they put over the winning run to take the game, 5-4. Both teams were strong on the defensive, but neither proved hot as aggressors.

O'Haver, left fielder for the Merchants, made a brilliant record of nine put-outs. Both Chinn and Keulman pitched shut-out ball and held a steady pace when hits would have meant runs.

Lake Villa Stops Merchants

One of the best games of the season was played at Lake Villa Monday night when the Merchants met defeat on their opponent's field, 6-2. The upset for the Merchants came in the third inning. With bases loaded and two out for Lake Villa, a ball was misjudged in the outfield, the opportunity was seized and Lake Villa scored.

Although Mauffelt pitched real ball, the fielders were weak, with the exception of Willard Chinn. Barney Nabor nabbed two hits from Stratton.

The Merchants look for help in their promising new pitcher, Carl Barthell, who will be an asset to the team, according to Manager Otto Klase.

Merchants Take Double-Header.
The Merchants took both games of a double-header played with Ingleside Friday, taking both games by two runs. The first game ended 8-0. The Merchants made nearly every hit mean an addition to the score, and scored eight runs off of nine hits.

However, in the second game the Merchants made only four runs off of nine hits, but were protected by Shunnesson, the pitcher, who allowed but six hits, and the fielders, who stopped all but two men from rounding the diamond. O'Haver, Chinn and Murrell gave their bats a break in the first game, while Shunnesson and Willett proved to be the stellar hitters in the second.

Half way through August — gosh, the calendar is getting thin!

Editorial.
Would you buy an automobile without first finding out the price of the other makes? Of course not. Yet some folks buy roofing from traveling salesmen without ever bothering to compare his price with that of local dealers, and without comparing the roofing.

It won't be long now until the papers are full of football players, and all you can hear over the radio is "So-and-so cut through left tackle for a 5-yard gain..."

Most fortunes have been made by optimists who bought from pessimists. There seems to be a golden opportunity for optimists just now in Antioch.

Wouldn't this be a funny world if it were not for window blinds?

Well-to-do people generally are those who have always watched all the corners for savings. Such folks are buying their coal for next winter now, at summer prices, which afford substantial savings.

Love doesn't really make the world go 'round, it just makes people so dazy they think it does.

The lecturer who said the modern girl's clothes resemble dish rags, had better get out of the country before some modern girl finds out what a dish rag looks like.

Prices were forced too high in 1929. They simply had to come down. Now they are too low. Which means that buying time is here.

The straight and narrow road is all right provided you don't happen to get behind a truck.

WILMOT PIRATES DEFEAT THE FOX RIVER TEAM 5-2

The Wilmot Pirates defeated Fox River at the Wilmot park Sunday, 5-2. Norm Richter and Pugh engaged in an interesting pitchers' battle, each pitcher striking out thirteen men. Richter was a trifle stingy with hits, allowing only five. The Pirates hammered out eleven hits including doubles by Oetting, E. Frank, George Richter and McDougall. McDougall, with a double and two singles, and George Richter, with a double and a single, were the leading hitters for Wilmot, while Ellis collected three of the five hits allowed by Richter. A fast double play by Richter to Shubert Frank to Smith featured. Next Sunday the Pirates travel to Petriy Springfield to play the Dunsbacke club.

TIMELY TOPICS BY ANTIOCH PEOPLE

THE PRE-SCHOOL CHILD
By Marguerite G. Phillips.
A short time ago a former U. S. commissioner of education said, "The four years before the beginning of school life are years of intense activity and of great importance in the intellectual and moral education of the child. The child's mind is alert, his senses are keen, and development is rapid. The mother woman-to-be is the precise product of the training received in the inexpressible first years of childhood."

This scientific truth has now been so firmly established and has commanded such widespread attention, that intelligent parents everywhere are fully aroused to their responsibility. Never before in the history of the education of mankind has the pre-school been given so much attention. Why? Because the wise parent wants the proper training for his child during these critical first years. Parents are asking themselves, "Is there something we can do right now in these plastic years that will mean as much to their minds as the food and clothing we feel is so necessary?" The answer is pre-school training.

Child development has become a national issue. Five million parents have joined the National Parent-Teacher Association. Child-study groups have been established throughout the country wherever conscientious parents have realized the urgent need for it. The pre-school child needs trained guidance. Their minds are awakened to new interests; they discover new powers in themselves, and learn how to manipulate the tools of social custom. In other words, whatever their little minds conceive the proper direction is there to guide them along right channels and to teach them good fellowship with man without the constant preachment of "Don'ts."

A STORY OF PRIVATE INITIATIVE AND LOCAL CAPITAL

Chapter X

"QUICK—CALL PUBLIC SERVICE!"

In an emergency it is becoming a first thought. "Call a doctor . . . the police . . . the Public Service Company."

It happened again near Ottawa, Illinois, a few weeks ago.

The weather was sizzling hot and a group of happy families were splashing in the Fox River, enjoying the cool relief of a midsummer dip. Children and grownups were having a grand time.

Suddenly a cry of excited alarm. A child was missing. The frantic scream of a woman. The quick terror that strikes its blow with the realization of impending tragedy. It was twenty minutes before someone's foot in the water touched the little body. Was there a chance of saving her? No one knew quite how to try. And everyone was frightened.

"Quick—call Public Service!" Someone said it. John Scannell, a gas fitters' foreman, and two other Public Service Company employees arrived before the police. With an experience that comes from training, Scannell immediately applied the prone pressure method of resuscitation which the Company had taught him as a matter of routine for all employees. For five . . . ten minutes he worked. Nothing happened. It seemed certain that life had left the little body.

But Scannell worked on, smoothly, rhythmically, letting his own weight force air into the child's lungs. After fifteen minutes there was a stir of life. The police arrived but their pulmotor was discarded for the smooth, hopeful efficiency of the trained worker. It wasn't long after that the child was breathing regularly. Today she is probably playing with her dolls.

Her name is Bernadine McConnaughey.

In a letter to the Company, Ottawa's Police Chief said: "We know that her life was saved through the efficient manner in which John Scannell and other members of his squad of your Company applied the Schaefer method. We thank you in behalf of the city, parents and friends of this little girl and also the Police Department."

It was chance that made hero out of John Scannell, but it wasn't chance that made him an expert in the Schaefer method of resuscitation. The nature of the Company's business pointed out the value of that training years ago. It was made a part of the Company's regulations. Men, women, linemen, laborers, clerks, salesmen, managers—everyone is given the instruction.

The Company has no records of all the cases where people have been revived through the knowledge its employees have of life-saving and first aid. In 1926, the President of the Company established the Britton I. Budd Medal for the Saving of Human Life. Twenty employees have been given the award and eight more are expected to receive it this year. Most of the cases have been outside of business—employees on their vacations, on their way home from work, off duty.

Of course the Company is proud of John Scannell. And it is also proud of the hundreds of other employees who could have done the same thing.

WINTER DRINKSPeaches May Be Used for Their Juice as Well as for Their Fruit

Now that fruits and berries of various kinds are obtainable at low prices, and sugar is about as cheap as it was before the war, food prices sky-rocketing, the wise housewife bottles nectars, cordials, and vinegars. During the winter months these are served as delicious beverages, guaranteed to please guests as well as the members of the family. Here are three excellent recipes by Betty Barclay for drinks of this type:

Peach Nectar.

Peel, stone and crush very ripe but sound peaches. To six quarts of the pulp add one quart vinegar. Let stand in an enamel or porcelain vessel for 36 hours with a cloth tied over the top of the container. Strain first through a cheesecloth bag and then through a flannel one.

Measure juice and add an equal quantity of sugar. Stir until dissolved. Place in a preserving kettle and boil 5 minutes counting time when juice begins to boil. Remove at once pour into sterilized jars or bottles, and seal tightly. Store in a cool place.

Use about four tablespoons of this syrup in an ice tea glass with crushed ice and water for a refreshing beverage.

Blackberry Cordial.

Crush the berries with a wooden spoon and turn into a jelly bag. Squeeze the bag to extract as much juice as possible. Allow the drops to settle, and then drip through a canvas flannel bag. To each pint of juice add one cup sugar, one-half teaspoon ground cloves, one-half teaspoon ground cinnamon, and one teaspoon ground nutmeg. Boil gently for 20 minutes, pour into sterilized jars or bottles, and seal tightly.

Raspberry Vinegar.

2 quarts raspberries
3 cups sugar
2 cups cider vinegar

Pour the vinegar over half the berries and let stand in a granite or porcelain container over night. Strain off the liquid in the morning and pour it over the rest of the berries. Allow this to stand 24 hours and again strain off the liquid. Heat to the boiling point, add the sugar and boil 20 minutes. Pour at once into sterilized jars or bottles and seal tightly. Use about three tablespoons to a glass of chilled ice and water as a beverage.

YOUTHFUL ENSEMBLE

The more delicate designs and hues of early summer frocks are being superseded by late summer's and early autumn's sturdier weaves and bolder colors. The above street ensemble, of heavy wash material with a silk finish, has a gay white pleated skirt with blue dots, and a blue jacket with white dots. Scarflets are used to finish off the wide slit cuffs and collar.

DULL EYES MAR
APPEARANCE OF
A SMART WOMANAttention to the Eyes Is as Necessary as Make-up for Beauty

Have you ever met a woman stranger, perfectly well-groomed and immaculate in every detail, and felt that something almost indefinable was lacking? Hair, complexion, make-up, hands, figure, dress, shoes and stockings were all that any woman with pride in her appearance would desire, yet something was wrong.

That something, in many cases, is not as indefinable as it appears to be. It is simply lack of eye sparkle.

Crow's feet about the eyes, puffiness, shadows, redness, too light eyelashes, or just a tired look, can wreck the best of faces. Then, too, the shade of rouge used may be utterly out of harmony with the eyes, even though it blends with the other make-up.

The tender tissue around the eyes should be cleansed every day, and massaged with skin food to prevent wrinkles. Puffiness or hollows usually result from insufficient sleep, or worry. That, too, can be regulated. Some people have weak eyes without actually needing glasses, and occasionally their eyes water, or are devoid of their natural healthy clearness. The use of some strengthening eyewash, such as boric acid solution, will restore the sparkle and perhaps ward off a headache.

The field of eye make-up is still young, but there are unlimited beauty possibilities to the experimenting lady who is alive to them. Black, the conservative shade used by most women, unfortunately is not always conservatively applied, and transforms the wearer into a semblance of an artificial, painted doll. Eye make-up is available in every desirable shade. Certain authorities recommend blue eye paste for blondes in the daytime and green in the evening. Brunettes must enhance their duskliness with purplish shades, while those neither blonde nor brunette must experiment and decide upon some half-way shade, blue-green, blue-gray, gray-green, or gray.

And another thing—! Rouge or lipstick was not intended to eclipse the brilliance of the eyes, but to emphasize their natural sparkle.

KEEP THE KITCHEN
TABLES CLEARED!Best of Housewives Often
Fail to Clear Table
After Baking

By Dorothy Hughes.

Clearing the Kitchen Table! That title has been smacking around in the back of my head for several months, insistently working its humble way to the fore.

Everyone has a pet housekeeping peeve and this seemed to be the one which particularly refused to budge from the craw of one housewife I talked with recently.

The kitchen is necessarily cluttered up enough during the course of the day, with baking and preparing meals, but after the dishes are done, don't you find a thrill in scrubbing off the work table, and putting away any bottles, salt shakers, and odds and ends which find daily use in the kitchen?

Some women think it more convenient to leave several pans, a cup, a spoon, a dish of butter or jar of pickles, an orange, an egg or two, a torn recipe book and a crust of bread all crowded together in the center or huddled in one corner of the table.

Space Saver Nerves.

They do not know the delight of beginning every day's work on a clear table—with plenty of elbow room, no fussing to edge one more article on limited space without disastrous results to dress, pie, or nerves. Then, too, it is gratifying to have a neat worktable exposed to the view of any neighbor or guest who chances to invade the kitchen realm.

Shelves, cupboards and refrigerators were designed to take care of food and food containers, and all overflow of the day's labors. Imagine the confusion which would come to pass if every week one cup or package of raisins—just one article every seven days—were added to the collection of the kitchen worktable's sundries.

A person who hasn't a pet peeve hasn't much character. This particular woman's household "chip" has been ailed, and if you have others which you think would be freshened by a little atmosphere, write them down and let the Woman's page tell others about them.

Fruit Combinations
Supply Minerals,
Vitamins, Energy

When fruits are plentiful and easily procured from the garden or from the market, wise housewives see that their families are given as much of these fresh foods as possible to store up vitamins against the winter, when fruit is higher priced and less easily obtained.

Vitamins and minerals which fruits provide are very essential in a well-balanced diet, and, combined with sugar, they may be used instead of sweets to supply energy.

The following recipes are delicious to serve in hot weather.

Marshmallow Rice.

Marshmallow rice makes a wonderful summer dessert. Cut thirty marshmallows in halves and cover with one can of crushed pineapple to soften. Add one and one-half cups cooked rice, one-half cup sugar and one-eighth teaspoon salt. Mix thoroughly and fold in one-half pint cream sweetened to taste. Chill and serve with a garnish of maraschino cherries.

Refreshing Mint Cup.

Peel and quarter three oranges; stem and cut in half one cup of cup of strawberries. Mix with one small can of crushed pineapple and one pound of after dinner mints. Let stand one hour at room temperature. Stir and put in refrigerator to cool. Serve decorated with a green maraschino cherry or a sprig of fresh mint.

Golf Salad.

Cut small balls from a cantaloupe to make one cupful. Arrange slices of canned pineapple on lettuce leaves, sprinkle lightly with finely chopped mint, put the cantaloupe balls on top, and serve with French dressing and cheese sticks.

For a morning appetizer, half an iced cantaloupe, filled with chilled, crushed pineapple is delicious.

Combination Drink.

Here is a combination drink that is a decided improvement on plain iced tea. Mix the syrup from a No. 2½ can of pineapple, three average-sized bottles of lemon carbonated beverage, and one cup of strong tea. Place a slice of lemon or one or two pieces of pineapple at the top of each glass.

TOPPY'S TRAVELS

Synopsis: Toppo leaves home to follow his canary. After many adventures, Mr. Frog and Toy, the dwarf, cause the Cushions to fight the Pillows, who have invaded the land of the Cloud-Queen. However, as the Pillows are winning from the Cushions, Toppo trains an army of the Cloud-people and sets forth to capture the Pillows. Toy warns them to wait, while he delivers a message to the captured Cushions. Now continue the story—

"It seems that we spend most of our time waiting for something," Toppo complained to Mr. Frog after Toy had gone.

"Is that so?" queried Mr. Frog, ruling an eyelid slowly.

Toppo ignored this. "You know, I would just love to get my hands on that Egopli. If ever we capture the Pillow Queen and her darling son."

"What would you do to him?" Mr. Frog asked idly.

"Oh, I'm a good shaking up, I suppose," answered Toppo. "If I were home I think I would duck him in the pond."

"Oh, keep still," Mr. Frog said, suddenly cross. "You make me long for a deep pool to dive in. Talk about something sensible, can't you? I suppose that now friend of yours will be making me all kinds of trouble with that laughing war whoop of his."

"Peer Falcon," sighed Toppo. "I know what it is to be hungry."

"He may be hungry enough, but I haven't any patience with any one who can't keep quiet," said the sear Mr. Frog.

"Oh, well," Toppo told him, with laughter in his eyes. "You are an exception, you know."

The frog glared at Toppo, but said nothing further.

The next day the boy found that Mr. Frog had gone. "I wonder where he has gone, without saying anything to me," Toppo thought indignantly, and a little remorsefully.

He asked some of his soldiers, but no one knew whether the Frog had departed.

"I hope he didn't wander off and get captured; just when things were looking brighter," Toppo fretted.

But this worry was all for nothing, for the next day Mr. Frog turned up, grim as ever, and with him were Toy and the sear.

"Where did you go?" Toppo demanded of Mr. Frog.

"I had a hunch that Toy might need a little assistance, and I was right. Not that it is any of your business," the frog said darkly.

Toy was better tempered.

"Mr. Frog drew the attention of one of the Pillow guards at the court, as he did in the garden of the Cloud-Queen, so I could slip in and tell the Cushions that help was on the way."

Toppo looked at Mr. Frog with admiration. "Mr. Frog," he said, seriously, "you are an exception, and I really mean it."

"Humph!" muttered the frog, but he couldn't resist a superior smile, and he added, "I get things done."

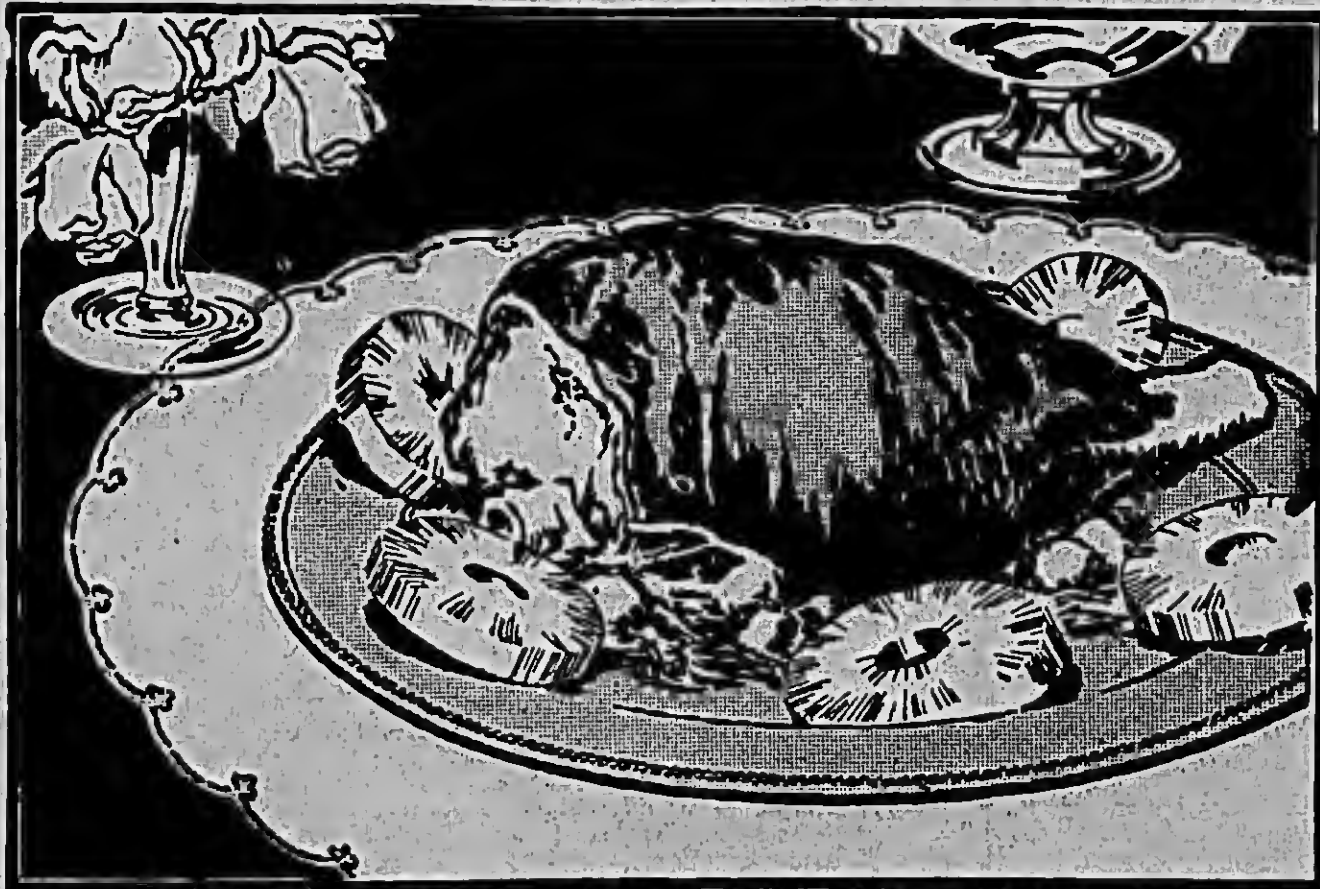

"Are we ready to start?" asked Toppo.

"The sooner the better," Toy advised. "We must get there before sunrise."

Toppo gave necessary directions to the soldiers, and shortly after night had fallen once more set forth to capture the Pillows.

For Summer Feasts

EAT is hard to digest in summer, but lots of people like to eat it, nevertheless. So dietitians have been casting around for ways in which to make meat more easily digestible by combining it with other foods. Meat combines well in taste with many foods, but very few of them help very much in the digestion of it.

There is one food, however, which helps people to digest heavy proteins wherever they appear. That is pineapple. It was almost accidental—just because everyone knows that it is good for one to eat a lot of fruit in summer—that this delicious combination of pineapple with meat was discovered.

Now scientists have gone further and not only confirmed the deliciousness of the combination but given it the credit of being dietetically correct. Pineapple, they say, contains an enzyme called bromelain which acts powerfully on proteins and helps people to take care of heavy protein foods.

If you like meat you will be interested in the following recipes which tell how to combine this tropical fruit with it in the very best ways.

Luscious Lamb

Roast Lamb with Pineapple Bread Sauce: Dust a leg of lamb with salt, pepper and flour, place in roasting pan, slice a small clove of garlic over it, and roast as usual, basting occasionally. About fifteen minutes before done, lay the slices from a No. 2½ can of Hawaiian pineapple around the meat and let brown. Meanwhile, make a sauce by melting one tablespoon butter, adding one tablespoon flour, and then slowly adding the pineapple syrup from the can (about one cup). Add a few grains of salt, two teaspoons horseradish and two tablespoons fine sifted dry crumbs, heat and serve with the roast which is served with a ring of the pineapple slices around it. If desired, a big, puffy, hot stewed prune may be placed in each pineapple hole.

Armenian Lamb Shortcake: Slice four slices (half of a No. 2½ can) of Hawaiian pineapple into thin pieces, and add with one tablespoon chutney, or other chopped sweet pickle, two cups diced cooked lamb and one-half cup whole ripe olives to three cups rich white sauce.

Serve between hot, split, buttered baking powder biscuits. Serves eight.

Pork Tenderloin with Pineapple: Cut a pork tenderloin in pieces about one and a half inches thick and flatten out with a broad-bladed knife. Wrap a piece of bacon around each, and fasten with a toothpick. Brown both sides in a little fat, reduce heat, dust with salt and pepper, and cook until tender. Remove and brown the slices from a can of Hawaiian pineapple in the same pan. Lay the pineapple on hot platter, and place a bacon-wrapped piece of tenderloin on each slice. Make gravy by slightly thickening the drippings in pan and adding a little water.

Juicy Pork

Pineapple Pork Chops: Empty the contents of a No. 2 can of crushed Hawaiian pineapple into a large flat buttered casserole (or into individual ones). Peel three large sweet potatoes and slice over the top. Sprinkle with one-half cup brown sugar. Salt six thick loin pork chops and lay on top. Cover and bake in a hot, 400 degrees, oven until tender. This will take from one hour to one hour and a quarter. Uncover for the last fifteen minutes to brown chops. Serves six.

CHANNEL LAKE COUNTRY CLUB NEWS

The hard rain of last Saturday night did not dampen the spirits of those who attended the delightful dance which was held at the clubhouse. Sturtevant's orchestra from Chicago gave us the best music we have had for some time, and the large crowd of young people who participated in the affair was most appreciative.

The card party which was given by Mrs. Herbert Van Pelt and Mrs. J. E. Gorsuch at the clubhouse was a very charming affair, and was attended by about thirty-six friends. The high honors in the game which followed the luncheon went to Mrs. Mauer-mann, Mrs. Ernest Brook, Mrs. William Cooper, Mrs. Carl Gallauer, Mrs. W. W. Warriner, Mrs. Lillie Britton, and Mrs. Florence Smyth Williams.

At the ladies' golf game on Thursday Mrs. Walter Stevens proved to be the lucky winner of the prize for the day. This week's event is low gross score and low totals. Next week on Thursday will be a fancy dress affair, which always brings out many funny costumes, and no one should miss the fun on that day. Come and see them. If you do not play, and make your reservations with Mrs. W. K. Gray for the luncheon which follows the game.

The regular Tuesday luncheon and card party was held this week, as usual, and the lucky prize winners for the day were Mrs. Martha Rosling.

The Christian Endeavor business meeting was held at the home of Richard Martin Friday evening.

John Vernon Edwards has been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kahuf, at Grange Hall, the past week.

E. A. Martin spent Thursday in Chicago.

Mrs. Eva Alling returned home Thursday, after visiting in Chicago for a few days.

Mrs. Jane Stocum is visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. G. Murrie, at Russell.

Mrs. Marguerite Johnson, and Mrs. Helen Bayrd.

The members of the club are looking forward with pleasure to the community dinner and barn dance which is scheduled for next Saturday night. It is hoped there will be a large attendance at both affairs, and for the dinner, reservations should be made through Mrs. Laflin or Mrs. VanPelt. These dinners are always family affairs, including children as well as grown-ups.

The members of the club may feel justly proud of one of our junior members, Edward Mauer-mann, who qualified this week with a score of 79 in the western junior golf meet. Another one of our juniors tried for it, Dan Pfinger, but did not quite make the grade, for which we are truly sorry. The friends of Mrs. William Renz will be glad to learn that she has returned home after her recent operation at the Henrotta hospital.

COKE
Clean as the Sun's Heat

Don't be bullied around another winter by harboring these parasites in your basement. Smoky Jim gets into everything, and Joe Heavyash is always underfoot like a ball and chain. Pa Bentback loves to park on loaded shovels, while Sambo Soot scurries around musing up the whole house. And if you don't keep scratching Old Man Clinker's back with the poker, he'll try to break every grate in your furnace. Get rid of them all by ordering Koppers Coke. It's lighter on the shovel, smokeless and sootless, and leaves no ash worth stirring.

BUSINESS ON THE HOOF

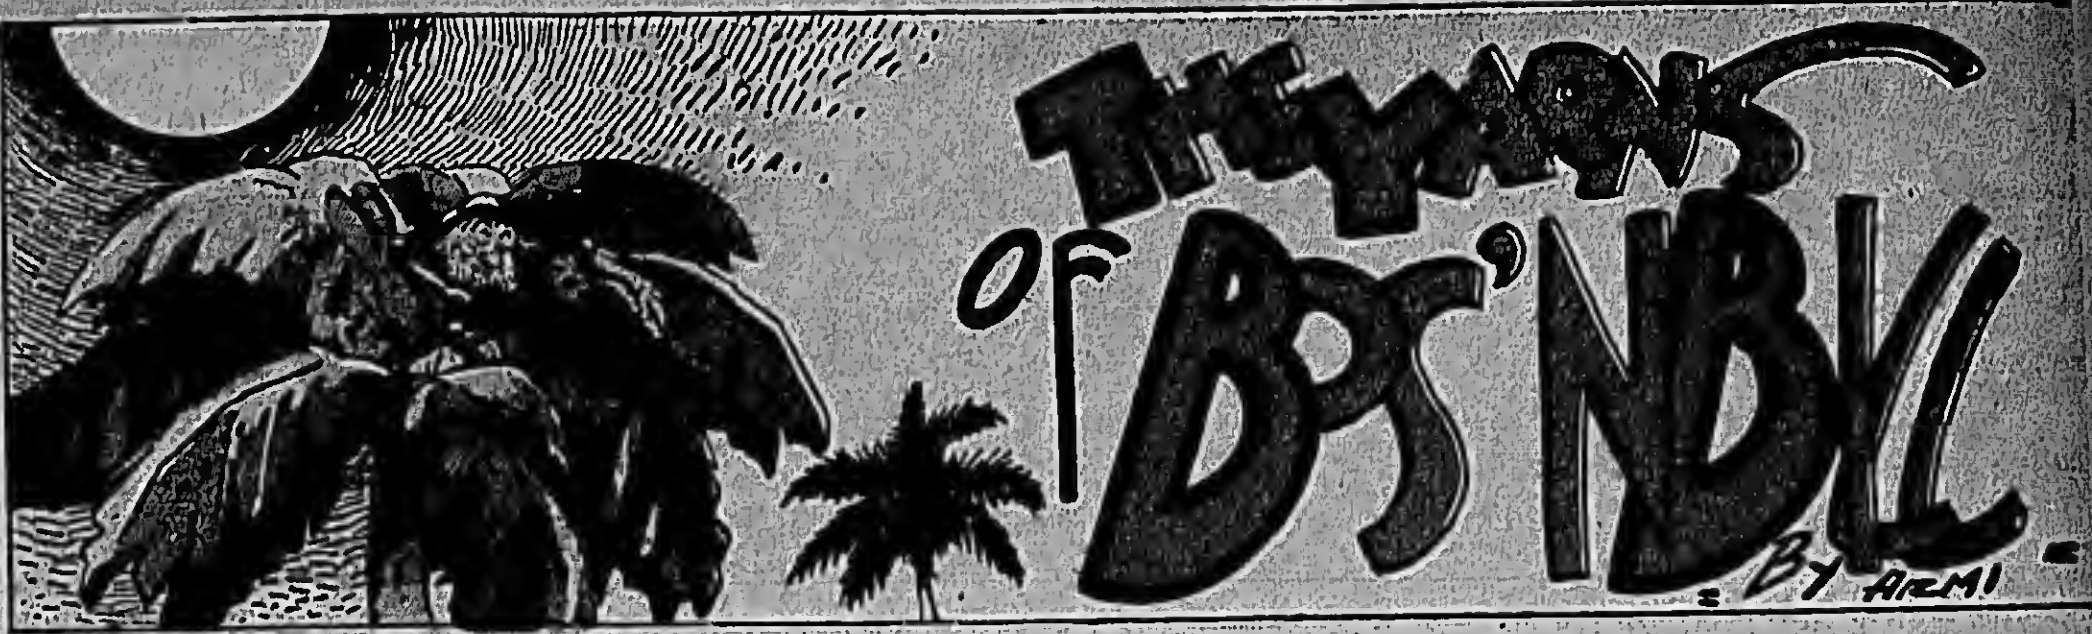

LOST IN THE JUNGLE

After my animal friends and I had escaped from Black Dog, the crazy old pirate, we kept goin' until we were deep in th' jungle and then discovered we were lost. We were hungry and tired after our long run so Singoot climbed a banana tree, broke off a big bunch of bananas and dropped it at my feet. We felt much better after our banana lunch and started out to see if we could find th' lagoon we had left that mornin'.

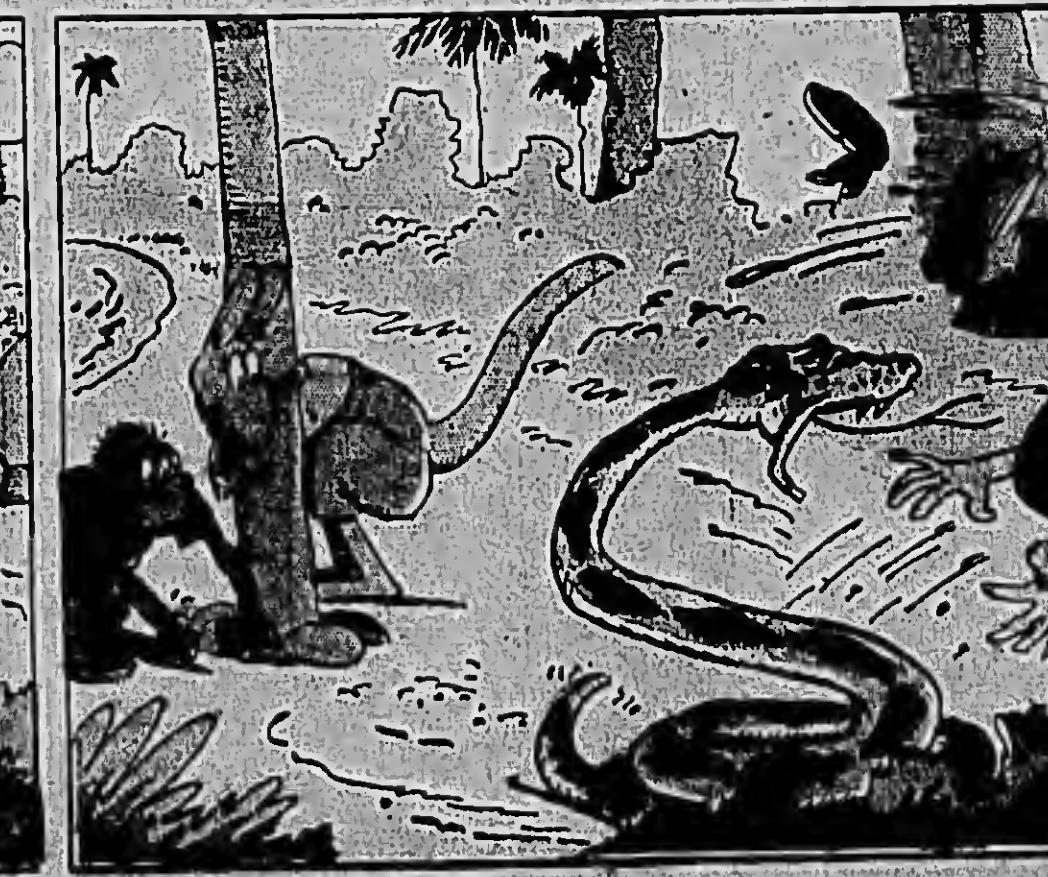

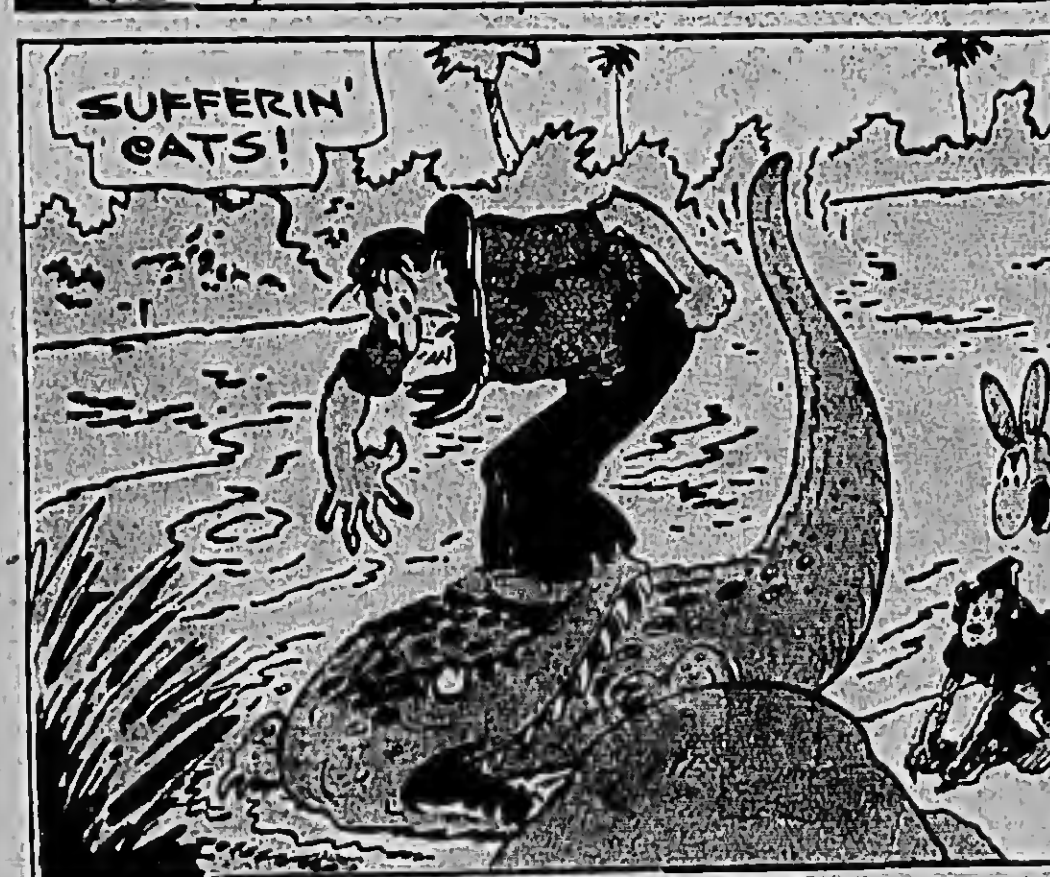

At last we came out of th' heavy jungle and found a broad, swift river before us. I saw what I thought was a log partly hidden by th' grass at th' edge of th' water, and wonderin' if it would float, I stepped onto it. Sufferin' whale! Two jaws filled with long sharp teeth reared out of th' grass. A sleepin' crocodile, that's what it was! You should have seen how quickly I got ashore.

Well s'r, I was that flabbergasted after my close squeak with th' crocodile I sat down on what I thought was a brown rock to get my breath back again. Then Singoot pointed to somethin' back of me and began to chatter like a crazy loon. Wonderin' what in tarnation was th' matter with him I looked over my shoulder and right into th' eyes of a monster snake. What I had thought was a rock were th' coils of a huge snake, and there I was sittin' on 'em. Well s'r, I jumped right up and landed runnin'. Kangy, Singoot, and I got away from that spot in a hurry.

BILL AND HIS ANIMAL FRIENDS MADE THEIR ESCAPE FROM THE CAVE WHERE BLACK DOG, THE CRAZY HERMIT PIRATE, HAD TAKEN THEM, ON THE PRETEXT OF SHOWING THEM HIDDEN TREASURE. BUT NOW THEY ARE LOST IN THE JUNGLE OF A STRANGE ISLAND! WHAT'S GOING TO HAPPEN TO THEM NOW?
